H. Reidinger, aged 14, of Penn township, York county, had a loaded gun and while climbing over a fence the gun discharged, as is presumed, by the hammer of the lock striking against a rail, the contents (common bird shot) entered the right side of the face below the cheek bone ranging upwards to the top of the head, fracturing the temporal bone, and several shot piercing the brain.

Arrested on Suspicion, L. E. Huggins, phrenologist, magnetist and agent for books on physiology. and who resides at 48 Fifth street, Reading, was arrested at the City hotel last evening by Chief of Police Deichler, on suspicion of being a thief. Amos Frick is a regular boarder at the City hotel, where for some days past Huggins has been stopping. Some time yesterday the room of Frick was entered by some one, who broke open his trunk and stole a silver watch worth $45 besides some valuable shirt studs and sleeve buttons. When arrested Hnggins had two watches on his person, one of which was gold and the other silver. He obtained the latter watch by trading a ring for it, to a young man at the hotel. Neither of the watches was identified by Frick as being his property, and if Huggins is the man who robbed him it is believed that he has disposed of the property. Several jewelers in town say that they have seen the gold watch found on Huggins before. One says that a man, answering the description of Huggins came to his store yesterday, and asked whether he could sell a watch there, but he did not then show it. It is said that when Huggins first came to town he did not have any watch. Since he has been at the hotel he has been in the habit of spending a good deal of his time up stairs. The accused is a man apparently about 40 years of age, and since he has been in town he has been selling a book on physiology. He will have a hearing this evening before Alderman Donnelly of the Seventh ward, before whom complaint was near the Green Tree hotel, Stras-

Pleasant Surprise Party and Anniversary. Thursday, the 8th inst., was the 55th birthday of Robert Montgomery, esq., our well-known fellow citizen and member of the board of county commissioners. His good wife had planned for him a genuine surprise which she succeeded in carrying out in a most admirable manner. Mr. Montgomery had been called for in the morning by his friend, Mr. James Collins, for the (pretended) purpose of looking at a lot of stock. In the meantime friends to the number of fifty persons assembled at the house; all the carriages and horses were carefully concealed from view, and a watch set for the approach of Messrs. Montgomery and Collins. About 12 o'clock they were sighted, the spacious dwelling, and the doors were closed. Mrs. Montgomery met them at the north point of the house, telling Mr. M. that Rev. W. Anderson was in the parlor, and insisted upon his going in immediately by the front door. To this he slightly demurred, alleging that Mr. Anderson was no particular stranger, but he was hustled hall by Mr. Anderson, a side door was opened, and another of his friends But when the doors of the parlor were thrown open and his friends poured in upon him in such number his surprise was complete, and he feelingly acknowledged that he had been completely "sold." The scene was all the more enjoyed by Mrs. Montgomery and the friends who know him best from the fact that in commenting upon similar events, he had expressed himself to the effect that " no woman could shut his eye upon such an occasion," but he is now willing to admit that like clay in the hands of the potter.

After spending some time in social conversation the company were invited into the dining room, where Mrs. Montgomery had spread one of the most inviting entertainments, for which she is so justly celebrated, consisting of all the delicacies of the season placed upon two tables, which fairly groaned under the weight of the good things they contained, and to which the invited guests did ample justice.

About 6 o'clock the guests were served with ice cream, cake, fruit and coffee, after which short speeches were made by Revs. Alexander, Cairns and Shuey, and Drs. Martin and Raub, Messrs, Thos. C. Colstreets, for the purpose of organizing a lins, Robert Ferguson, W. S. Hastings, J. D. Harrow, Geo. Whitson and Geo. W. Mr. Montgomery, after which the company were led in prayer by Rev. PHILIP SCHUM AND WIFE KILLED.

Curious Case of Mistaken Identity—One Family Spared triof Which Over-whelms Another. This forenoon engine No. 505, attached to Niagara and Chicago Express, on the Pennsylvania railroad, struck a horse and buggy containing a lady and gentleman, injured and were taken to Mt. Joy on the same train, where they were left in charge of the station agent. The man died shortly after reaching Mt. Joy and his wife died soon afterwards. It was not known who the parties were when they were first taken to Mt. Joy, but they have since been recognized as Rev. Mr Specht and wife, of Manheim. The horse which was driven by Mr. Specht was so badly injured that he died soon after the pieces. Near the railroad crossing where the ac cident occurred there is a cornfield, which

For twelve years I had suffered, from time to time, terribly with Rheumatism, to such an extent that I was unable to move about and lost the use of my limbs. I tried everything recommended to effect a cure, consulted some of the most prominent physicians and expended large sums of money, hoping to find relief, but without any success. Giancing over the columns of the "Wachter," I read about the ST. JACOB'S OIL and the MANY cures this remedy had effected. Having been disappointed so many times, I lost all faith in any remedy, the St. Jacob's Oil included, until I saw one day that it had cured a well-known citizen with whom I am acquainted. Other parties fully endorsed the value and wond-rful power of the OIL, telling me that it had cured them of lifferent allments in a very short time. This brought me to a conclusion. I said to invelf. Schweizer fifty cents won't break you;" so I went to my druggist, Mr. Bock, bought a bottle of the Oil, and must now confess that the result was truly wonderful. I used it every two hours, and found relief immediately upo the first application, and the pain ceased entirely after a few more applications. Fearing o use the remedy every three hours. All pain having left me, I arose from my bed and walked down stairs without any trouble. Since that time I have been able to follow my ecupation and feel no pains or inconvenience, nowever disagreeable the changes of the weather may be. Having thoroughly tested the St. Jacob's Oil, I can conscientiously re-commend it to all afflicted with Rheumatism. fifty cents is a small expense when the services for so trifling an outlay are considered. If I was one thousand miles away from all human habitation, I should, nevertheless, procure this remedy and keep it always in my house.

TRAGEDY IN A RAGNIO.

A Young Man Shoots His Seventeen-Year-Old Sister in a Den et Shame to Wipe Out the Family Diagrace—She Pleads for Him With the Officers, and They Part With Tears and Mutual For-giveness—A Sad Story.

DANVILLE, Va., July 9 .- Last night

about midnight, Thos DeJarnette entered bagnio here, enquiring for Mollie De-Jarnette, an irmate thereof. She appeared recognized him as her brother, and at his request went with him to a private room. A few minutes later repeated pistol shots were heard from the room. He immediately confessed having shot her and averred he had done it to wipe out the disgrace of his family by his sister's conduct. He surrendered himself to the officers and has been committed to jail. He declares his willingness to accept the penalty of the law.

Medical examination showed the girt was shot in five places, two at least neces sarily fatal, and that she cannot survive. She protests that her brother was right in taking her life and begs that he be not punished. On their separation after the tragedy the brother and sister embraced with mutual forgiveness and tears of

She is remarkably intelligent and fine looking : her brother is about twenty and is a railroad agent and telegraph operator at Brown's Summit, N. C.
